Khenpo Pema Lodrö Sangyé Chöpel,³ who is unmatched in the three trainings in these degenerate times, said that there was a need for a prayer like this that could be chanted aloud by the monastic assembly. In response, Chokgyur Lingpa wrote this on the tenth day. May this bring goodness!

1The original text is untitled; this title has been added by the translator.

2"Lord with the karmic destiny" refers here to Pema Lédrel Tsal (1231/2?-1307?), the immediate reincarnation of Princess Pema Sel to whom Guru Rinpoché had entrusted the transmission of the Heart Essence of the Dākinīs in the eighth century. Pema Lédrel Tsal withdrew the terma of the Heart Essence of the Dākinīs from its place of concealment at the Daklha Tramo Drak rock in the province of Dakpo, but only partially decoded it during his life. He then transmitted these teachings to his main disciple Gyalsé Lekden. Pema Lédrel Tsal was reincarnated as the Omniscient Longchenpa, who received the whole cycle of the Heart Essence of the Dākinīs from Gyalsé Lekden, and by so doing, ensured that the authentic lineage was kept alive.

3More commonly known as Khenpo Rinchen Dargyé.
